

AHIMTA National At-Large Board of Director Position

AHIMTA maintains a Regional Board of Director system with one Director per each of 10 regions across the country. Each Director represents the constituents of their region. Since the inception of AHIMTA, there has always been one At-Large Board of Director Position. This position has always been appointed by the board.

The focus of this position is to provide a national perspective to the Board of Directors rather than a regional perspective. This At-Large position should provide input to the Board and represent a cohesive national knowledge which includes Federal AHIMT programs, national land management hosted teams, and national initiatives.

The AHIMTA National At-Large Board of Director should be someone that has a respectable career in incident management and has had membership on a national team. The member should be recognized nationally as a leader within the incident management environment and has a large network of connections. The member should have experience working with national associations involved in emergency management and other public safety organizations that have relevancy to AHIMTs.
